University Booth of DATE 2007: "CALL for Demonstrations"

[1]

The University Booth is part of the DATE conference and has an own booth in the exhibition hall. It gives the outstanding possibility to get in contact with international experts who are looking for the latest research results. Universities, public research institutes and this year for the first time research projects also are invited to submit hardware and software demonstrators.
The deadline for submission is January 19th, 2007 More Information [2]
